YANKEES NEGOTIATE FLIGHT TO GREENLAND

MADE RECORD HOP, 825 MILES, IN TWELVE HOURS

NO DEFINITE WORD ON FATE OF ITALIAN AVIATOR ACCOMPANYING THEM

PLAN OF LIEUT. SMITH IS TO TAKE SHORT JUMP TO IVIGTUT

(By United Press)

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 22.—Lieuts. Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson, after bucking northerly winds all day yesterday, arrived at Fredericksdal, Greenland, last night, having completed their 825-mile jump in a little less than 12 hours flying time.

The fatigue of the fliers, coupled with the delay in their arrival, caused by the northeaster that fanned their machines, made it unadvisable for them to continue to Ivigtut, the next stop on their journey and the point Lieut. Smith wished to reach if weather conditions and flying time permitted.

There is no definite word to indicate that Lieut. Locatelli, the Italian airman, who jumped off with the Americans yesterday, has arrived with them in Greenland.

The plan of Lieut. Smith was to continue the flight today with the short jump to Ivigtut, due north from Fredericksdal, where a full day's layover is contemplated for overhauling the machines preliminary to spanning the 572 miles from Ivigtut to Indian Harbor, Labrador.

The fliers, en route for Ivigtut on the west coast of Greenland, are following the course of Erik the Red, who first discovered the island.

At Ivigtut is one of the most interesting settlements in the northern part of the world—the settlement established by Erik back in 983 A. D. After its establishment it was maintained for several centuries by Norwegian colonists. When the colony was established substantial homes were built, 16 churches were formed and a monastery and nunnery were started.

The fliers missed the famed "Greenland's icy mountains" by taking the sea route around the island. If they had taken the direct course from east to west they would have travelled over a veritable land of ice. The snows of dozens or more milleniums have built up a crystal blanket which in some places is 6,000 to 7,000 feet deep.

DAILY MAIL, LONDON, REPORTS ON LOCATELLI

London, Aug. 22. — The Daily Majl's early afternoon edition reports in a dispatch from Reykjavik that the Italian airman, Lieut. Locatelli, as well as the two American fliers, landed at Fredericksdal at "7:10 o'clock last night."

There is no confirmation of the word of the landing of Locatelli, however, from any other source here.

The Evening News says no definite word has been received indicating that the Italian arrived in Greenland with the Americans.

YANKEES MAY BE DELAYED HUNTING ITALIAN

Washington, Aug. 22.—The American world fliers, who spanned the ice-clogged Atlantic in their 825-mile dash, will hop northward over the coast of Greenland to Ivigtut, according to word received at the navy department here.

The flight from Fredericksdal to Ivigtut is a little over 300 miles and can be completed in a few hours.

This step, however, may not be taken if no word is received from the Italian aviator, Locatelli, whose progress has not been reported to the Air Service here. The last word received concerned him when he passed over the cruiser Richmond 70 miles west of Iceland.

It may be necessary for the American fliers to delay the progress of their flight in order to join the search for the Italian, it was said.

AMERICAN CRUISERS TO SEARCH FOR ITALIAN

Aboard the U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 22.—Admiral Magruder has ordered the American Cruisers Richmond, Raleigh and Barry to search the east coast of Greenland around Cape Farewell for Lieut. Locatelli, Italian pilot.

The orders, issued at 11:20 Greenwich mean time, ordered the scout planes aboard the vessels to be launched in the search.

Naval officers on board the Richmond inclined to the belief that Locatelli may have proceeded on past Fredericksdal to Ivigtut. It was pointed out that Lieuts. Smith and Nelson early in the afternoon were following Locatelli, and the Italian may have recalled that Smith was anxious to proceed to Ivigtut if weather conditions and flying time permitted when he reached Fredericksdal.

Locatelli, riding a bigger plane than the Americans, carries considerably more fuel and could easily have reached Ivigtut. Efforts are being made to ascertain if he has done this.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 22.—Mysterious signals heard on the radio last night by operators listening for a "message from Mars" were again heard at 7:14 a. m. today, Pacific coast standard time.

Operators at the Point Grey radio station and W. G. Walker, radio expert, listening in, heard the signals.

NORTHWEST ROADS ABLE TO HANDLE CROP MOVEMENT

BUMPER CROP IS EXPECTED IN THIS TERRITORY

GRAIN SHIPPING SITUATION IN FINE SHAPE, REPORTED

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Northwest railroads are in a better position this year than at any time previous to handle the expected bumper crop of grain in this territory.

P. G. Coleman, district manager of the American Railroad association, Minneapolis, an organization made up of all the railroads of the United States, is authority for the above prediction.

Weather conditions which are resulting in a backward crops may bring slight delays in loading, Coleman, said, adding that this delay would not take place before the middle of September, if at all.

"The grain shipping situation, so far as the railroads are concerned is better than ever before," Coleman said. "Most of the Northwest lines have 100 per cent of their ownership of box cars now in this territory, and some have more than their ownership."

Although weather conditions are going to result in a delay in harvesting and will bring enough of the crop to a head, at the same time the railroads are in a position to handle the situation with higher efficiency than ever before.

Minneapolis, Aug. 22.—Downfall of the communistic system in Russia is inevitable, Dr. Pitirin Sorokin, Russian sociologist, declared in an address before the Minneapolis Lions club yesterday.

CLARENCE DARROW PLEADS FOR THE TWO BOY SLAYERS

EARNEST PLEA TO SAVE LEOPOLD AND LOEB FROM GALLOWS

BLAMES "MISGUIDED YOUTH" FOR MURDER OF BOBBY FRANKS

(By United Press)

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 22.—Playing on the heart strings with the wizardry of a master cellist, Clarence Darrow, the "old lion" of the defense, today pleaded with Chief Justice John R. Caverly to save Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the gallows. In the most brilliant speech ever delivered in this little courtroom, a speech fairly throbbing with emotion, Darrow blamed "misguided youth" for the murder of little Bobby Franks.

The 65-year-old attorney, his heavy hunched shoulders seeming to sag under the weight of the responsibility, rose in the narrow space in front of the bench.

"In this court place," Darrow began, "it has been almost three months since the responsibility of this case has been placed upon me and my associates. It was a responsibility that I would have gladly escaped from, instead of taking up the case. It is a responsibility almost too great for anyone to assume, but we lawyers can no more choose than the court can choose."

Darrow at this point was interrupted by the noisy crowd held outside the courtroom and forced to pause until order was restored.

RIOT BREAKS OUT AMONG SPECTATORS

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 22.—A good-sized riot broke out on the sixth floor of the criminal court building here this afternoon, when the crowd of men and women stormed the doors of the courtroom of Chief Justice John R. Caverly to hear Chief Defense Attorney Clarence Darrow make his arguments for the lives of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb. When Darrow had entered thousands of persons gathered about the building, and despite strenuous efforts of the forces of police, gained entrance into the building. They broke through police lines on the first floor and surged through the hallway to Justice Caverly's courtroom, where a large force of officers were holding the crowd in check.

When Justice Caverly made his way to the courtroom a concerted rush was made after him.

The closed doors were hurled open by the terrific pressure of the mob and many gained entrance before police restored order. There was much milling about. Dresses and coats were torn, and many women became hysterical.

"Your honor, our anxiety over this case has not been due to the case alone but to the undue publicity that has been given this case, largely through the newspapers," Darrow began when quiet was restored. "The front pages of the newspapers of Chicago have regaled the people with all sorts of stories about the case, until almost every person has formed an opinion.

"The result of this is that many people are not concerned with the kind of punishment handed out. All they think is of death," Darrow said. "When the public speaks as one man, they can think only of killing someone," Darrow said wistfully, shaking his nose glasses loosely in his hand. "Everything has been done to excite the people. It was reported that millions of dollars would be spent in an attempt to save the lives of these two boys. We promised the people that no exorbitant sums would be paid lawyers and psychiatrists, and we have faithfully kept that promise," Darrow said, explaining that defense alienists were being paid according to the sums received by state alienists and that lawyers' compensations would be fixed by the bar association.

Then came another rush, causing such a noise that Darrow was forced to halt. Justice Caverly rose and ordered the doors closed and that no one was to be admitted to the courtroom. He left the bench until order was restored. Re-enforcements were rushed to the sixth floor and the crowd was dispersed, but only after a hectic fight.

French Probe Vanishing of Children Adopted by American Woman

Agen, France, Aug. 22.—Mme. Dinorah Galou must find several infants she had adopted unless she desires to stand trial for murder, officials have decided.

The woman, said to be a notorious adventuress who at one time said her home was at Wellington, Calif., has been questioned repeatedly regarding children which she adopted. None of the children have been found and the police believe she has been carrying on a traffic with babies.

"I have an abnormal love for children. Unable to become a mother myself I have adopted many infants. I will be able to tell the whereabouts of all of them," she told the police.

Another new phase in the case is that her husband, Dr. Galou, has been advertising in Paris medical journals for newborn babies.

THOUGHT HE WAS TOO CLEVER FOR POLICE, CAUGHT

ROY L. SCHULTZE ATTEMPTS TO EXTORT $25,000 FROM MILWAUKEE BANKER

SENDS "POISON LETTER" AND IS TRAPPED BY VIGILANT DETECTIVES

(By United Press)

Milwaukee, Aug. 22.—Believing himself too clever for police, and desiring to know how detectives would handle the case, Roy L. Schultze sought a unique manner of attempting to extort $25,000 from Joseph Uihlen, Milwaukee banker and capitalist, by means of a "poison letter."

He figured wrong, however, and today is being held on a charge of attempted extortion, having been trapped by detectives.

Schultze, who says his home is at Lomiara, Wis., made a complete confession according to police. He is said to have pictured himself as a "master criminal" and thought himself too clever for Milwaukee police. He also confessed, police said, that he needed money to complete his education and sought to obtain it from the Milwaukee millionaire by means of the "bacteria letter," which he sent special delivery.

In the extortion letter which was received by Mr. Uihlen on Tuesday night was a small piece of cotton.

The letter started out by telling of a deadly disease being prevalent in Wisconsin and that by opening the letter he (Uihlen) had liberated bacteria with which he would become infected. The writer further stated that he had the only forumla which could be used as a prophylactic in combatting the bacteria, and it would be sent the millionaire upon his delivery of $25,000 to a designated spot.

Mr. Uihlen turned the letter over to police, who immediately started an investigation. As directed in the letter Uihlen followed out the orders regarding delivery of the money. Schultze appeared on the scene and was arrested. He was taken to the police station for questioning and confessed the plot, which, he said, he had developed along the lines of a book which he had studied carefully.

After the letter was turned over to the police, the piece of cotton which, according to the writer, contained the deadly bacteria, was turned over to city chemists for microscopic examination.

JOHN W. DAVIS CONDEMNS THE KU KLUX KLAN

COMES OUT FOUR-SQUARE IN SCORING ORGANIZATION

ISSUE AS TOPIC FOR POLITICAL DEBATE NOW SEEMS REMOVED

By FRASER EDWARDS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 22.—John W. Davis, in his first major speech since formally accepting the Democratic nomination for president, today came out four-square in condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan and at the same time challenged President Coolidge to do likewise, thereby removing the issue as a topic for political debate.

"Whenever any organization," Davis solemnly declared to a great gathering of Democrats here, "no matter what it chooses to be called—whether Ku Klux Klan or by another name—raises the standard of racial and religious prejudice, or attempts to make racial origin and religious belief a test for fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American interests and must be condemned by all who believe, as I do, in American ideals."

Davis' direct reference to the Klan—the first time he has mentioned it by name—was added to his speech after he arrived here, as he explained in launching into the subject:

"Since my arrival in Seagirt I have been asked by more than one persons now present in the audience what views I entertain concerning the organization known as the Ku Klux Klan. I am constrained to think those who asked this question did not hear nor have done me the honor to read the speech of acceptance which I delivered at Clarksburg on the eleventh day of this month.

"In that speech I took occasion to declare that nothing would so utterly destroy happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad as the separation of the citizens of this country into discordant groups along racial or religious lines. I affirm my personal belief in the great guarantees of religious freedom and religious tolerance which has made this question what it is and I assert it to be the solemn duty of every believer in American interests to oppose any challenge, organized or unorganized, of this sacred doctrine, under whatever name or in whatever character it may appear. It is my hope to state these truths in language plain enough to leave no room for doubt or misunderstanding of my personal views, in terms sufficiently pronounced to include any and all forms of bigotry, prejudice and intolerance. On that declaration I stand."

Here he made his definite declaration in condemnation of the Klan.

"I repeat," he concluded, "that these matters must not be permitted to divert the attention of the people from vital questions now before them. I venture to express the hope that the nominee of the Republican party will see fit by some explicit declaration to join in removing this topic from the field of political debate."

Couzens for Coolidge

Detroit, Aug. 22.—Sen. James S. Couzens of Michigan, one of the leading rebels of the senate, is on the Coolidge band wagon today.

"I am going to vote for the Republican candidate for president. I could not be under the party's banner and not vote for its candidate," the senator said in an address to the Women's Republican club here.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 22.—After long and heated debate, the Central Labor union, representing 2,000 organized workers, has refused to indorse the candidacy of La Follette and Wheeler and the progressive ticket as requested by the American Federation of Labor. It has been decided to submit the question of indorsement to the local unions throughout the city.

DULUTH STEAMER AGROUND TODAY ON ROCKY ISLAND

(By United Press)

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22.—Radio messages received here last night reported the steamer J. W. Ailes aground on the northeast end of Rocky Island and in a dangerous position for northerly winds.

The message was received from the steamer Pioneer which stated that the grounded boat was out of water two inches and that at least two tugs would be necessary to release it.

The boat left Superior at 12:15 a. m. Thursday laden with ore. Dense fog is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

Rocky Island is east of Devils Island, of the Apostles Isle group near Bayfield, Wis.

CRESCENT CASHIER IDENTIFIES TRIO AS HIS ASSAILANTS

SUSPECTS SOUGHT NEARLY FIVE MONTHS CAPTURED IN BRAINERD

ST. PAUL POLICE BEAT WRIT IN RACE FOR CUSTODY OF GANG

(From St. Paul Daily News)

Two men and a woman are under arrest today for the Crescent Creamery Co. robbery in St. Paul April 23.

The two men, police say, have been identified as the bandits who held him up by S. J. Gadacz, cashier of the creamery company, who was forced to surrender $2,500.

This identification was made from pictures in the police rogues' gallery, and search for the two started following this identification. Police nearly captured them in Minneapolis shortly after the robbery, and since have trailed them through Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, Winnipeg, Duluth and Superior.

Those Arrested

The men under arrest are Joe Baker, alias Smokes, 38 years old, whose true name is said to be Clarence Speakman and L. L. O'Neil. The woman is Mrs. Blanche O'Neil.

Gadacz was starting for the bank with the receipts of the day before on April 23 at 9:30 in the morning when two men came to the side of his car, menaced him with revolvers, and forced him to drive them from 7th and Chestnut streets to Irvine park. There the bandits threw him out of the car, circled back to 7th street and went out near the Ancker hospital, where the man with the money got into another car in which were two women. One of these women is believed to have been Mrs. O'Neil.

Car Abandoned

Gadacz' car was abandoned nearby.

The three were arrested at Brainerd several days ago for an auto theft at Superior. They fought extradition, and as St. Paul police learned of their whereabouts yesterday afternoon, a habeas corpus hearing was on in which they sought their freedom.

With warrants for the bandits Detectives Tom Brown and Burt Carr, driven by Fred O'Rourke, rushed in a police car to Brainerd, and arrived in time to get the three before they were set free.

Brought to St. Paul

The return trip was started Wednesday night, and the officers and their captives arrived in St. Paul at 4a. m. Thursday.

The three are now on the hold book, with no charge filed against them. They are under indictment for the robbery, police say, and will be sent to court to face the charge.

Both men have criminal records, police say. O'Neil started serving a reformatory sentence for forgery in 1916, and started a prison sentence for a similar offense in 1920, being released in 1922.

Speakman, or Baker, was one of three men arrested lone handed by Detective Austin McNeely in July, 1921. The man tried to shoot McNeely on the way to central station.

One of the men was wanted for murder in Chicago.

Lived in Summer Home

The three, with a Mr. and Mrs. Donahue, have been living this summer in a cottage at Bay Lake, 20 miles from Brainerd. Smokey's wife also was with them for a time, but she is reported to have had trouble with her husband some time ago, and left.

The men this morning were questioned by Captain of Detectives Herman Vall, but insisted they were not connected with the robbery. Chief of Police Ed Murnane, who did much of the work of trailing the alleged bandits, prior to his appointment as chief of police, was called to Minneapolis today to testify in a case there, so could not question them.

ONE MAN HURT, TRAIN SERVICE IS SUSPENDED

NUMEROUS WASHOUTS, BUILDINGS BLOWN DOWN, FIELDS INUNDATED

CROPS DROWNED OUT AND OTHER REPORTS OF DAMAGE RECEIVED

(By United Press)

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 22.—One man was injured, train service on the Soo Line and Omaha road is suspended, several barns and buildings in the vicinity of Osseo and Price were destroyed and telephone service paralyzed south and east of here by one of the worst wind, electrical and rain storms that has ever swept this region.

The storm swept through this territory yesterday afternoon and early last evening. The territory between Price and Osseo, south of here, which bore the brunt of the tornado two weeks ago in which six persons were killed is believed to have been hardest hit by yesterday's storm.

Numerous washouts, buildings blown down, fields inundated and crops drowned out are the reports which come in slowly from the storm areas.

Telegraph and telephone service has been completely tied up.

The engine and three box cars of a freight train on the Soo Line plunged 30 feet over an embankment due to a washout at Colfax. Clarence Bidwell, engineer and Elmer Nelson, fireman, jumped to safety.

A west bound freight on the Omaha road was derailed shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday when a wheel on one of the cars broke at Menominee. Several cars were ditched and all train service suspended. Service on one track was resumed after midnight.

OMAHA ROAD TRAIN DELAYED BY WASHOUTS

Fairchild, Wis., Aug. 22. — The Omaha road passenger train on the Mandovi branch arrived here four hours late yesterday without mishap but was delayed by washouts along the way.

MAN CONVICTED OF WALBY MURDER MAY BE SHOWN INNOCENT

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Investigation of the Walby murder case has been reopened by Minneapolis police, and Verne Lane, now serving a life sentence at Stillwater may be freed.

William Stauffer, confessed slayer of Patrolman Emil Engstrom, has written to the Minneapolis police department declaring they have the wrong man in the Walby case.

He named another man as the actual murderer of Orville P. Walby during a holdup Dec. 22, 1922. He declares he took the gun from the murderer, a friend of his, shortly after the shooting.

He also confessed, police said, that he needed money to complete his education and sought to obtain it from the Milwaukee millionaire by means of the "bacteria letter," which he sent special delivery.

In the extortion letter which was received by Mr. Uihlen on Tuesday night was a small piece of cotton.

The letter started out by telling of a deadly disease being prevalent in Wisconsin and that by opening the letter he (Uihlen) had liberated bacteria with which he would become infected. The writer further stated that he had the only forumla which could be used as a prophylactic in combatting the bacteria, and it would be sent the millionaire upon his delivery of $25,000 to a designated spot.

Mr. Uihlen turned the letter over to police, who immediately started an investigation. As directed in the letter Uihlen followed out the orders regarding delivery of the money. Schultze appeared on the scene and was arrested. He was taken to the police station for questioning and confessed the plot, which, he said, he had developed along the lines of a book which he had studied carefully.

After the letter was turned over to the police, the piece of cotton which, according to the writer, contained the deadly bacteria, was turned over to city chemists for microscopic examination.

JOHN W. DAVIS CONDEMNS THE KU KLUX KLAN

COMES OUT FOUR-SQUARE IN SCORING ORGANIZATION

ISSUE AS TOPIC FOR POLITICAL DEBATE NOW SEEMS REMOVED

By FRASER EDWARDS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Seagirt, N. J., Aug. 22.—John W. Davis, in his first major speech since formally accepting the Democratic nomination for president, today came out four-square in condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan and at the same time challenged President Coolidge to do likewise, thereby removing the issue as a topic for political debate.

"Whenever any organization," Davis solemnly declared to a great gathering of Democrats here, "no matter what it chooses to be called—whether Ku Klux Klan or by another name—raises the standard of racial and religious prejudice, or attempts to make racial origin and religious belief a test for fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American interests and must be condemned by all who believe, as I do, in American ideals."

Davis' direct reference to the Klan—the first time he has mentioned it by name—was added to his speech after he arrived here, as he explained in launching into the subject:

"Since my arrival in Seagirt I have been asked by more than one persons now present in the audience what views I entertain concerning the organization known as the Ku Klux Klan. I am constrained to think those who asked this question did not hear nor have done me the honor to read the speech of acceptance which I delivered at Clarksburg on the eleventh day of this month.

"In that speech I took occasion to declare that nothing would so utterly destroy happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad as the separation of the citizens of this country into discordant groups along racial or religious lines. I affirm my personal belief in the great guarantees of religious freedom and religious tolerance which has made this question what it is and I assert it to be the solemn duty of every believer in American interests to oppose any challenge, organized or unorganized, of this sacred doctrine, under whatever name or in whatever character it may appear. It is my hope to state these truths in language plain enough to leave no room for doubt or misunderstanding of my personal views, in terms sufficiently pronounced to include any and all forms of bigotry, prejudice and intolerance. On that declaration I stand."

Here he made his definite declaration in condemnation of the Klan.

"I repeat," he concluded, "that these matters must not be permitted to divert the attention of the people from vital questions now before them. I venture to express the hope that the nominee of the Republican party will see fit by some explicit declaration to join in removing this topic from the field of political debate."

Couzens for Coolidge

Detroit, Aug. 22.—Sen. James S. Couzens of Michigan, one of the leading rebels of the senate, is on the Coolidge band wagon today.

"I am going to vote for the Republican candidate for president. I could not be under the party's banner and not vote for its candidate," the senator said in an address to the Women's Republican club here.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 22.—After long and heated debate, the Central Labor union, representing 2,000 organized workers, has refused to indorse the candidacy of La Follette and Wheeler and the progressive ticket as requested by the American Federation of Labor. It has been decided to submit the question of indorsement to the local unions throughout the city.

DULUTH STEAMER AGROUND TODAY ON ROCKY ISLAND

(By United Press)

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22.—Radio messages received here last night reported the steamer J. W. Alles aground on the northeast end of Rocky Island and in a dangerous position for northerly winds.

The message was received from the steamer Pioneer which stated that the grounded boat was out of water two inches and that at least two tugs would be necessary to release it.

The boat left Superior at 12:15 a. m. Thursday laden with ore. Dense fog is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

Rocky Island is east of Devils Island, of the Apostles Isle group near Bayfield, Wis.

CRESCENT CASHIER IDENTIFIES TRIO AS HIS ASSAILANTS

SUSPECTS SOUGHT NEARLY FIVE MONTHS CAPTURED IN BRAINERD

ST. PAUL POLICE BEAT WRIT IN RACE FOR CUSTODY OF GANG

(From St. Paul Daily News)

Two men and a woman are under arrest today for the Crescent Creamery Co. robbery in St. Paul April 23.

The two men, police say, have been identified as the bandits who held him up by S. J. Gadacz, cashier of the creamery company, who was forced to surrender $2,500.

This identification was made from pictures in the police rogues' gallery, and search for the two started following this identification. Police nearly captured them in Minneapolis shortly after the robbery, and since have trailed them through Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, Winnipeg, Duluth and Superior.

Those Arrested

The men under arrest are Joe Baker, alias Smokes, 38 years old, whose true name is said to be Clarence Speakman and L. L. O'Neil. The woman is Mrs. Blanche O'Neil.

Gadacz was starting for the bank with the receipts of the day before on April 23 at 9:30 in the morning when two men came to the side of his car, menaced him with revolvers, and forced him to drive them from 7th and Chestnut streets to Irvine park. There the bandits threw him out of the car, circled back to 7th street and went out near the Ancker hospital, where the man with the money got into another car in which were two women. One of these women is believed to have been Mrs. O'Neil.

Car Abandoned

Gadacz' car was abandoned nearby.

The three were arrested at Brainerd several days ago for an auto theft at Superior. They fought extradition, and as St. Paul police learned of their whereabouts yesterday afternoon, a habeas corpus hearing was on in which they sought their freedom.

With warrants for the bandits Detectives Tom Brown and Burt Carr, driven by Fred O'Rourke, rushed in a police car to Brainerd, and arrived in time to get the three before they were set free.

Brought to St. Paul

The return trip was started Wednesday night, and the officers and their captives arrived in St. Paul at 4a. m. Thursday.

The three are now on the hold book, with no charge filed against them. They are under indictment for the robbery, police say, and will be sent to court to face the charge.

Both men have criminal records, police say. O'Neil started serving a reformatory sentence for forgery in 1916, and started a prison sentence for a similar offense in 1920, being released in 1922.

Speakman, or Baker, was one of three men arrested lone handed by Detective Austin McNeely in July, 1921. The man tried to shoot McNeely on the way to central station.

One of the men was wanted for murder in Chicago.

Lived in Summer Home

The three, with a Mr. and Mrs. Donahue, have been living this summer in a cottage at Bay Lake, 20 miles from Brainerd. Smokey's wife also was with them for a time, but she is reported to have had trouble with her husband some time ago, and left.

The men this morning were questioned by Captain of Detectives Herman Vall, but insisted they were not connected with the robbery. Chief of Police Ed Murnane, who did much of the work of trailing the alleged bandits, prior to his appointment as chief of police, was called to Minneapolis today to testify in a case there, so could not question them.

ONE MAN HURT, TRAIN SERVICE IS SUSPENDED

NUMEROUS WASHOUTS, BUILDINGS BLOWN DOWN, FIELDS INUNDATED

CROPS DROWNED OUT AND OTHER REPORTS OF DAMAGE RECEIVED

(By United Press)

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 22.—One man was injured, train service on the Soo Line and Omaha road is suspended, several barns and buildings in the vicinity of Osseo and Price were destroyed and telephone service paralyzed south and east of here by one of the worst wind, electrical and rain storms that has ever swept this region.

The storm swept through this territory yesterday afternoon and early last evening. The territory between Price and Osseo, south of here, which bore the brunt of the tornado two weeks ago in which six persons were killed is believed to have been hardest hit by yesterday's storm.

Numerous washouts, buildings blown down, fields inundated and crops drowned out are the reports which come in slowly from the storm areas.

Telegraph and telephone service has been completely tied up.

The engine and three box cars of a freight train on the Soo Line plunged 30 feet over an embankment due to a washout at Colfax. Clarence Bidwell, engineer and Elmer Nelson, fireman, jumped to safety.

A west bound freight on the Omaha road was derailed shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday when a wheel on one of the cars broke at Menominee. Several cars were ditched and all train service suspended. Service on one track was resumed after midnight.

OMAHA ROAD TRAIN DELAYED BY WASHOUTS

Fairchild, Wis., Aug. 22. — The Omaha road passenger train on the Mandovi branch arrived here four hours late yesterday without mishap but was delayed by washouts along the way.

MAN CONVICTED OF WALBY MURDER MAY BE SHOWN INNOCENT

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Investigation of the Walby murder case has been reopened by Minneapolis police, and Verne Lane, now serving a life sentence at Stillwater may be freed.

William Stauffer, confessed slayer of Patrolman Emil Engstrom, has written to the Minneapolis police department declaring they have the wrong man in the Walby case.

He named another man as the actual murderer of Orville P. Walby during a holdup Dec. 22, 1922. He declares he took the gun from the murderer, a friend of his, shortly after the shooting.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES WILL PICNIC AT PARK

Employees of the railroads leading into Bemidji are to hold a get-acquainted picnic at Itasca State Park next Sunday. Believing that the railroad men of this section have much in common, the local agents of the various roads worked out the details of the meeting and extended an invitation to the employees. This will include the M. & I., the Great Northern and Soo and the Red Lake roads and a large attendance is expected. The cars will leave the Union depot at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Those owning cars are urged to bring them to the station to assist in transporting those who have no cars. Each employee is expected to bring his own lunch, and ice cream will be furnished by A. L. Molander of the Red Lake road. There will be a program of sports and an effort will be made to see that everyone gets acquainted.—Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

THE FAIR HEDDA DISCUSSES FEMININE UNDERWEAR FASHIONS

WHITE LINGERIE ERA AND THE COLORED SILK ERA

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The feminine fashion world may be divided into two eras as far as underwear is concerned—the white lingerie era and the colored silk era.

Not so long ago, women of refinement would include no undergarments in their wardrobe unless they were made of the finest of white linen and embroidered in handwork. They considered silk underwear too "Parisian" and colored underthings lacked the refinement required by the gentlewoman.

Today white undergarments are decidedly passe. The poorest of shopgirls adopt imitations of the flimsy colored silks and wear colored voiles. We sleep in silk nightrobes which would have shocked our grandmothers. These are minus sleeves, and with decollette necklines. We defy the winter's snow by wearing gauze silk stockings and low satin pumps and seem to grow hardier by doing so.

Whenever something new is brought out in the way of underwear we take it with a grain of salt and wait until the faddists have adopted it before purchasing it for ourselves. But the flimsier and more colorful it is, the surer it is to remain in style.

Black Undergarments

Just now the black underthings are being introduced and women have their fingers crossed, waiting to see how these will go with the fashionable world. There are black satin girdles lined in pink gorgette, black undervests, step-ins and brassieres. At first, we think, "How terrible to wear black next to the body." But a few years ago we thought it would be terrible to wear colors of any description.

Even white handkerchiefs have passed out of fashion, and today we carry little colored silk or linen squares which match our costumes. Of course, handkerchiefs are small items in the wardrobe, but they show the way styles are changing. No well-dressed woman carries a white, lace trimmed handkerchief these days. On the other hand, her kerchief may be of brilliant red crepe de chene or purple chiffon.

Those who have felt the luxury of silk underthings will never be content to return to cheerless linens. The average woman would rather own one silk petticoat than three cotton ones. And in the long run, the silk garment is, perhaps the most durable. It is easily laundered, lends itself better to the present slender silhouette, and wears well. It can be recolored at every wash if one wishes. The satisfaction of knowing that one is silk from the "skin" out is well worth the additional cost.

Just now lace is being used more extravagantly than ever on undergarments. Step-ins have yokes of lovely lace and are edged about the legs with corresponding lace. Medallion insets are again coming into style and contrasting colored ribbons adorn everything. Costume slips also follow the vogue for lace being scalloped and laceedged about the hems and with lace yokes. Fine pleating is also being used, despite the fact that the first laundering plays havoc with the pleats.

Lingerie silks have a wide range from China silk, crepe de chene, triple silk voile, satin, etc., to the sheerest of georgettes and chiffons. Recently introduced are step-ins which use two tones of georgette or chiffon, one layer posed over the other. This does away with the transparency of the material and, at the same time, produces softer coloring. Ribbons, which trim these models, are also two toned.

Black trims everything these days, even to the shoulder-straps on the colored underthings. One no longer has pink or lavender satin straps showing beneath one's sheer frock, unless the frock itself is of those pastel shades. With all dark gowns, the narrow black satin shoulder-strap is being used. For evening occasions silver or gold straps are preferred.

At the notion counters one can buy little tape shoulder-strap confiners, which can be sewn in one's frocks. These come in black and white and have snappers so that when they are attached to the shoulder seam of the frock, they hold the straps of the undergarments secure from view. Nothing is more untidy than half-soiled shoulder-straps showing at the bateau neckline. Dark frocks always have a tendency to fade on one's shoulder-straps and one must be extremely careful to keep these straps from view.

Pajama lounging robes are both new and interesting. Many of these can be quite easily made by the home dressmaker as they are very simple and rely upon contrasting combination for their charm. Black satin trousers combined with jacquettes of colorful figured silk are very easily made and are as attractive as many of the more ornate models.

WILL THERE BE A CAR SHORTAGE AND COAL SHORTAGE?

The Railway Age predicts in an editorial in its current issue that unless there is an immediate and very large increase in production and shipments of coal there will be a serious car shortage and coal shortage in the United States in the late fall and winter of this year.

"The railways at present," it says, "have about 170,000 coal cars in good condition rusting their wheels on side tracks because they are given no coal to haul in them and industrial concerns and domestic consumers, with astounding lack of foresight, are persistently refusing to buy coal in normal quantities.

"The production and shipments of bituminous coal in the first six months of this year were about 17 per cent less than last year and are now running 3,300,000 tons a week under, or 30 per cent less, than at this time last year. It seemed reasonable to expect that after the middle of the year there would be a substantial increase. On the contrary, there has been no susceptible change. Production and shipments continue to be less than 7,500,000 tons a week, an abnormally low figure.

"The average production in the seven years ended in 1923 was 495,121,000 tons. This includes four years of active demand, but also one year of profound depression and two years when there were great coal strikes. Therefore, to assume that in a year of moderate business activity a production of 500 million tons will be required for consumption and the maintenance of adequate storage supplies seems reasonable. The total production in the first twenty-nine weeks of 1924 was less than 247 million tons, or at the rate of 8,500,000 tons a week. It would appear, therefore, that the production required in the rest of the year will be at least 253 million tons, or at the rate of approximately 10,900,000 tons a week. This would involve an increase in the demand upon the railways for the transportation of coal of about 28 per cent over the average demand in the first half of the year, and an increase of about 50 per cent over the demand made upon them within recent weeks.

"The railways could meet this increased demand. Suppose, however, that shipments of coal should continue to average only 7,400,000 tons a week until September 1, and that after that there should be a demand for the railways to move enough of it to make the total amount transported during the year 500 million tons. The demand then made upon the railways in the last seventeen weeks of the year would be for the transportation of 12,300,000 tons of coal a week. It is very questionable whether the railways could meet this demand. It would mean an increase of almost 70 per cent in the demand made by this one class of traffic within a few weeks. The effects of such extreme fluctuations in coal traffic upon transportation conditions were illustrated in 1922. The coal strike ended in September of that year and there was suddenly a vast increase in the demand for the transportation of coal. The small traffic for some months had made it necessary for the railways to reduce the number of employees and store a large number of locomotives and cars. It was an absolute impossibility for them to enlarge and reorganize their forces and relocate equipment quickly enough to cope with the changed conditions. The result was that in the closing months of 1922 they did not handle as much freight as they had in the corresponding months of some previous years, and yet had the largest car shortage in history.

"The railways have demonstrated repeatedly that they can easily handle all the coal that is required if they are given a chance to handle it in a volume that is anywhere near uniform. They cannot handle it economically or satisfactorily when shipments fluctuate 50 to 75 per cent between different seasons. The huge increase in shipments clogs the transportation machine, and when the machine becomes clogged the demands for coal soon exceed the supply, and abnormal increases in coal prices result. Business concerns and domestic consumers in the long run pay for these vast fluctuations in coal shipments in unnecessarily high transportation costs and unnecessarily high coal prices.

"The best advice that can be given to industrial and domestic consumers is to order their next winter's supply of coal at once. If they continue to postpone placing their orders they will create transportation conditions which will make it impossible for many of them to get adequate supplies of fuel."

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

It is necessary to plan our meals a day or more in advance if we furnish our tables well and economically.

Stuffed Steaks.—Instead of the usual hamburger steak try preparing them thus: Season the meat after grinding it and put a little into as many greased gem pans as needed; on this place a layer of seasoned bread crumbs—they may be seasoned as for poultry stuffing if desired—then cover with another layer of seasoned meat. Bake in a moderate oven. Turn out on a hot platter, garnish with parsley and serve with a tomato sauce if desired.

Roll Jelly Cake.—Take three eggs, beat lightly; add one cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir in gradually one cupful of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a dripping pan in a moderate oven. The pan should be lightly greased. Turn the cake out on a towel wrung from cold water. If the edges are crisp and crack trim them. Spread the cake with jelly and roll in the towel while still warm.

Nut Sauce for Ice Cream.—Boil until it threads a pound of maple sugar and one-third of a cupful of water; add one-half cupful of almond meats coarsely chopped and serve hot poured over vanilla ice cream. Mapleine may be used with brown sugar if the maple sugar cannot be obtained.

Steam a quarter of a cupful of raisins, two tablespoonfuls each of sliced citron and candied cherries; cut the fruit into shreds with scissors before steaming, add to the custard and freeze as usual. If one cuts up the fruit the day before and soaks it in orange juice to cover, it is most delicious, soft and well-flavored.

Krimmel Torte.—Put one-half pound each of dates and walnuts through the coarse part of a meat grinder, or better, chop in a wooden bowl with a quarter of a pound of figs; add three tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, the yolks of six eggs well-beaten, then the stiffly beaten whites with one-half cupful of sugar. Bake very slowly in layers. Put together with whipped cream.

Action Story Takes Mix Across Pacific

Tom Mix has added the working schedule of a stoker in the hold of a Pacific tramp steamer to his movie experiences. In his latest picture, "Stepping Fast," Mix is shanghaied and forced to pass coal for his passage to China, where he meets with a series of thrilling dramatic situations. This picture, which comes to the Lyceum tonight and Saturday, was produced by William Fox.

Mix plays the role of a young ranchman who is captured by a band of criminals because he possesses the secret of the location of a gold mine hidden in the Arizona desert.

After being thrown into the waters of San Francisco Bay he is picked up by the crew of a tramp steamer and force to work his way to China, where he again meets the gang. With the aid of some American sailors, Mix and the daughter of the scientist who discovered the mine fight their way out of a Chinese den and start back to the States.

MacLean on Wild Ride in Funny Film

In "The Hottentot," Douglas MacLean rode a horse in a ride that would make Earl Sande, the premier American jockey, look like a novice. In "Going Up," the picture star shot through the air like a meteor and made Eddie Rickenbacker, the celebrated flyer, weep with delight at his flying. In his newest screen comedy, "The American Consul," suggested by the famous musical comedy by the late Henry Blossom, Jr., and Alfred Robyn, MacLean goes his speed stunts of other films one better by a wild, reckless and daring ride in a machine down a steep incline, the car having no brakes and the driver forced to depend on a prayer for his safe arrival physically intact at the bottom.

This ride is just one of the tremendously funny things that MacLean does in this picture, which comes to the New Park.

Conscience asks: "Is it right?"

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

It is necessary to plan our meals a day or more in advance if we furnish our tables well and economically.

Stuffed Steaks.—Instead of the usual hamburger steak try preparing them thus: Season the meat after grinding it and put a little into as many greased gem pans as needed; on this place a layer of seasoned bread crumbs—they may be seasoned as for poultry stuffing if desired—then cover with another layer of seasoned meat. Bake in a moderate oven. Turn out on a hot platter, garnish with parsley and serve with a tomato sauce if desired.

Roll Jelly Cake.—Take three eggs, beat lightly; add one cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir in gradually one cupful of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a dripping pan in a moderate oven. The pan should be lightly greased. Turn the cake out on a towel wrung from cold water. If the edges are crisp and crack trim them. Spread the cake with jelly and roll in the towel while still warm.

Nut Sauce for Ice Cream.—Boil until it threads a pound of maple sugar and one-third of a cupful of water; add one-half cupful of almond meats coarsely chopped and serve hot poured over vanilla ice cream. Mapleine may be used with brown sugar if the maple sugar cannot be obtained.

Steam a quarter of a cupful of raisins, two tablespoonfuls each of sliced citron and candied cherries; cut the fruit into shreds with scissors before steaming, add to the custard and freeze as usual. If one cuts up the fruit the day before and soaks it in orange juice to cover, it is most delicious, soft and well-flavored.

Krimmel Torte.—Put one-half pound each of dates and walnuts through the coarse part of a meat grinder, or better, chop in a wooden bowl with a quarter of a pound of figs; add three tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, the yolks of six eggs well-beaten, then the stiffly beaten whites with one-half cupful of sugar. Bake very slowly in layers. Put together with whipped cream.

Action Story Takes Mix Across Pacific

Tom Mix has added the working schedule of a stoker in the hold of a Pacific tramp steamer to his movie experiences. In his latest picture, "Stepping Fast," Mix is shanghaied and forced to pass coal for his passage to China, where he meets with a series of thrilling dramatic situations. This picture, which comes to the Lyceum tonight and Saturday, was produced by William Fox.

Mix plays the role of a young ranchman who is captured by a band of criminals because he possesses the secret of the location of a gold mine hidden in the Arizona desert.

After being thrown into the waters of San Francisco Bay he is picked up by the crew of a tramp steamer and force to work his way to China, where he again meets the gang. With the aid of some American sailors, Mix and the daughter of the scientist who discovered the mine fight their way out of a Chinese den and start back to the States.

MacLean on Wild Ride in Funny Film

In "The Hottentot," Douglas MacLean rode a horse in a ride that would make Earl Sande, the premier American jockey, look like a novice. In "Going Up," the picture star shot through the air like a meteor and made Eddie Rickenbacker, the celebrated flyer, weep with delight at his flying. In his newest screen comedy, "The American Consul," suggested by the famous musical comedy by the late Henry Blossom, Jr., and Alfred Robyn, MacLean goes his speed stunts of other films one better by a wild, reckless and daring ride in a machine down a steep incline, the car having no brakes and the driver forced to depend on a prayer for his safe arrival physically intact at the bottom.

This ride is just one of the tremendously funny things that MacLean does in this picture, which comes to the New Park.

REVIEW PRESIDENT'S ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

IT is interesting, in studying various papers, to note the comment made regarding President Coolidge's acceptance speech.

The Chicago Tribune summarizes it distinctly when it says: "'The people want a government with common sense.'" In this closing paragraph, Mr. Coolidge sums up the faith that is in him as a political leader and as responsible administrator of the affairs of a great nation.

"Mr. Coolidge's speech is a powerful appeal to American citizens," says the Wilmington, Del., News. It is a convincing statement of facts and deductions, deeply concerned with the welfare of the average American, contains nothing sensational, but plenty of sound judgment.

The New York Herald-Tribune says that principles and not personalities are the subject matter of Coolidge's speech. The whole speech breathes that lucidity, moderation and homespun dignity which he could not forget if he would.

The President reasserted his adherence to unyielding support of the Constitution and all its amendments, says the Indianapolis Star. He is for equal opportunity and treatment for all citizens and for the enforcement of all law because it is law. The people want a government of common sense, and that is exactly what he proposes to give them, so far as it is within his power.

The President conceives it to be his duty to bring the largest possible freedom from the exaction of government to the families of America. His record backs up his words.

President Coolidge's speech of acceptance is a reaffirmation of the faith of an American citizen in American institutions, says the Los Angeles Times. It is not a political utterance, for it contains no appeal to passion, prejudice, or class consciousness. There are none of the apt phrases with which the demagogue baits his emotional appeal.

MINNEAPOLIS ELK ON THE GROUND

A DISTINGUISHED Elk in Brainerd yesterday was Loyal Bintliff, secretary for many years of Minneapolis lodge. Mr. Bintliff was returning from the state convention at Duluth and the attendant cruise to Port Arthur and had words of the highest praise for all the courtesies shown by Duluth and the Canadians.

Mr. Bintliff visited Breezy Point Lodge and there met Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett and talked over convention plans of next year. At Brainerd officers and members of Brainerd lodge took him to the ball game and sought to entertain him.

Brainerd, in securing the Elks convention for next year, is already receiving a lot of publicity. "We may expect," said Mr. Bintliff, "a large delegation of Canadian Elks here on a fraternal visit." Minneapolis is deeply interested in Brainerd and will have a large representation at the Brainerd convention.

Visits like these indicate that Brainerd can start none too soon on preparing for the huge convention and mapping out its plans.

OUR COUNTY FAIR

BRAINERD, which is taking an ever increasing interest in matters agricultural, should be out en masse at the Crow Wing county fair August 27, 28 and 29. Wednesday will be devoted to arranging exhibits and Thursday and Friday will be the big days.

The array of speakers secured is a most imposing one. Congressman Harold Knutson and Thomas Schall, republican nominee for the U. S. senate, will speak on Thursday and Senator Magnus Johnson will give his address on Friday. There is friendly rivalry to see who will speak to the largest crowd.

Many attractions have been secured to add to the entertainment features. The agricultural exhibits will be noteworthy ones, and so will those in livestock, etc. Pure-bred dairy sires given farmers by the Chamber of Commerce will be among the cattle exhibits.

Band music will be a feature, music being furnished by the Brainerd boys band and the Crosby band. It requires good attendance to make any county fair a success and every one interested in Crow Wing county should be at the fair. Officers and committees of the fair association have done their part and it now is the duty of the citizens to attend and see the wonders gathered for their inspection.

GREENLAND'S ICY MOUNTAINS

WE remember the old hymn with the lines, "Greenland's icy mountains and India's coral strands" and then think of the American fliers, pioneers in the world flight, who have essayed all these climes and temperatures and who yesterday started on their longest lap, headed for Greenland's ice peaks.

We know that in such a dangerous undertaking every effort is made to minimize hazards. After everything is done in the way of equipment and training and supervision, each flier takes the air with a silent prayer to Him who has dominion over earth and air and sea, that the flight be successful.

INDIAN affairs will be investigated at Cass Lake this week by a senatorial committee which will look up claims of the Indians against the government for hardwood, jackpine and free homestead lands. The senators in the party are John Harrold of Oklahoma, Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota and John B. Kendrick of Wyoming. Congressman Harold Knutson will be in attendance at committee investigations.

MARCUS GARVEY is certainly a handy man. The picturesque leader of the "Back to Africa" movement is an admiralissimo afloat and generalissimo on shore. It will require his services in the two capacities to make the movement successful.

THE Brainerd Elks team took on too much expert opposition when it battled the Minneapolis Red Sox and narrowly averted the stigma of a complete shutout.

EARTHQUAKES in the East, in Japan and nearby, presage disaster and may mark a repetition of the terrible upheavals of a year ago.

CHRISTIANSON OWES NOMINATION TO MANY FRIENDS

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR MAKES STATEMENT

SAYS REPUBLICAN PARTY STANDS FOR EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY

THEODORE CHRISTIANSON,

editor of the Dawson Sentinel and Republican nominee for governor, has issued the following statement addressed to the voters of Minnesota:

"I owe my nomination not so much to my own efforts as to efforts of the most loyal group of friends that ever backed a candidate for public office. The home people who extended their influence into every part of the state, the press of Minnesota, the women who carried on a crusade in my behalf, the commercial travelers who carried my message to every city and village, former associates at the university and in the legislature and a thousand other personal friends—these, together, put over the campaign that resulted in my nomination.

"The state of Minnesota is overwhelmingly Republican. With a program that is in accord with what its people think, championed by candidates in which they have confidence, and backed by a party organization that truly represents the people, we cannot fail to win the approval of the electorate in November.

"I believe that there is not as much partisan bitterness in Minnesota today as there was two years ago. Most of the people have learned that the way to get good government is not to smash up the old parties, but to make the old parties right. Careful discrimination in the selection of party candidates and care in the building of the right kind of party machinery will do more to give us good government than any third party movement conceived in the minds of disappointed office-seekers.

"I am going to go the limit to make the Republican party organization right. In that effort I enlist the support of every good citizen in the state of Minnesota. If we cooperate in that effort, we shall not fail."

The Nominee's Platform

In addressing the Lincoln club of Minneapolis the Saturday evening preceding the primary, Mr. Christianson outlined the platform on which he made the successful campaign for the nomination and concluded with a striking peroration which sets forth the essential difference between the two political groups in Minnesota which will contest for supremacy this fall. Mr. Christianson declared:

"Relief from a tax burden—local, state and national—which has grown to such proportions in recent years as to be rapidly reaching the point of confiscation of private property by the state is the predominating issue of the campaign and the subject of most vital interest to the voters of Minnesota at this time."

As steps toward tax reduction and greater efficiency in state government Mr. Christianson advocated:

An adequate budget system.

Consolidation and reorganization of state departments.

Arousing a strong public opinion insistent on curbing expenditures.

A pay-as-you-go policy and, where bond issues are necessary, enactment of legislation which would require each generation to discharge its own obligations.

Giving tax payers protection against local public extravagance through the right of appeal to the state tax commission to block unwarranted expenditures.

"Born and raised on a farm, I share the aspirations of those who labor," said Mr. Christianson, in concluding his address. "My sympathies are not with the drones of society, but with its workers. I have introduced and supported measures in the interests of agriculture during my service in the legislature, and when I am in the executive chair, the farmers of Minnesota will know that they have a governor who understands them, because he is one of them.

"The demand for economic readjustment is insistent today. The Republican party stands for gradual readjustment to meet changing needs, not for revolutionary readjustment involving the overturning of the economic order. No economic readjustment is ever final, because the conditions with which it deals are never fixed, but ever changing. In effecting economic readjustments, the prime object to be sought is not a dead leveling of society, such as is sought by our radical friends, but a distribution of rewards that shall stimulate every man, whether he possess one talent or five, to spend himself to the utmost for the advancement of his community, his state, the race and its civilization.

What Party Stands For

"The Republican party has always stood, and must ever stand, for equality of opportunity; but equality of opportunity does not imply either equal distribution or communistic ownership of wealth. It implies an equitable distribution, one based, not on the accident of birth or on power possessed through monopolistic control of resources, but on the capacity of each individual for service. In any society, some men by virtue of greater foresight, more talents and better self-control, will acquire more property than others. The labor of some men is more productive than that of others. The Republican party does not stand for the idea that every man shall occupy the same social station, have the same bank account and live in the same kind of house as every other man. But, emphatically, it stands for the idea that to every man shall be open the door of the same opportunity. That was the idea of that stalwart Republican, James A. Garfield, when he declared that 'while European society is stratified like the rocks in the earth, ours is stratified like the ocean, where from the sternest deeps, any drop may rise to glisten on the highest wave that rolls.' Upon that conception the democracy, the Republican party challenges the forces that stand for a universal mediocrity, well knowing that when the American people are confronted with the choice of advancing or retreating, they will choose the part of constructive progress."

SALADS

According to the dictionary the word "salad" comes, somewhere along in its history, from an Italian word meaning salt. And salt is one of the most highly treasured condiments in Italy, because while it is necessary to human diet it is difficult to obtain in that country.

Nutritional research has of late years emphasized the extreme importance of salads and green vegetables to human health, thus proving scientifically the correctness with which the Italian word for an utter necessity was impressed into use to describe them. Investigation of the mineral content of green vegetables has also shown that certain salts needed by the body are combined in salads. All of which is proof of the virtue of having plenty of recipes for them in your collection.

Below are three new salads recently composed by one of the country's leading dietitians. It would be a good idea to clip and file them in your recipe cabinet—after, of course, trying them out to see how delicious they are and planning to repeat them from time to time!

Barcelona Salad

Cover a serving platter with finely shredded lettuce, which has been crisped on ice. On the lettuce place large slices of chilled and pared tomatoes. Cover the tomato slices alternately with finely chopped Spanish green olives, and finely chopped hard boiled eggs, each mixed with just enough French dressing to moisten. On the olive-covered tomato slices place thin strips of canned pimento, crosswise; and on the egg-covered slices, strips of green pepper also placed crosswise. Garnish with a wreath of water cress and serve with French dressing.

Chicken, Spanish Olive and Asparagus Salad Espagnole

Cut the white meat of cooked chicken into cubes and place in French dressing for an hour. Cut the tips from a dozen stalks of asparagus (cooked or canned) and let stand also in French dressing. To each cupful of chicken allow four thinly sliced Spanish green olives. Add the olives and asparagus tips to the chicken, and serve on leaves of crisp lettuce, with mayonnaise dressing.

Sicilian Salad

Scald, peel and chill small regular sized tomatoes, then cut each in three slices crosswise. Hard boil half as many eggs as there are persons to be served, and cut in halves crosswise, removing the yolk and cutting a thin slice from the end of each egg half to make it stand erect. Place the white cups of eggs on tomato slices which have been previously arranged on a platter bordered with parsley or lettuce and in each egg place a little stiff mayonnaise. Insert a large Spanish green olive in each egg cup, then mash the yolks of the eggs well, moisten them with mayonnaise and color with paprika. Force this mixture through a pastry tube about the olives and finish the salad by topping each olive with a resette of the dressing.

Famous Pleasure Spot of English Monarchs

Many kings have done their part to make Hampton court what it is today, asserts a writer in John O'London's Weekly. Wolsey began it all, and it is interesting to learn that when he walked in his park he liked to be left to his meditations. He would allow no servant to come near him; his order was that they should keep as far from him "as one might shoot an arrow." When Henry came into possession he at once extended the gardens, planted quickset hedges, and bought apple and pear saplings.

Hentzner described the gardens in Elizabeth's reign as "most pleasant," adding that he "saw rosemary, so planted and nailed to the walls as to cover them entirely, which is a method exceedingly common in England." Charles I formed lakes. Charles II planted more than two hundred elms and as many lime trees. William III in his turn, brought in the note of Dutch formality with yew, box, and holly sculptured into bird and animal shapes or arranged to represent his royal initials; he formed rectilinear canals and did strange things with terrace and balcony, and fountains better designed (said Horace Walpole) "to wet the unwary than to refresh the panting spectator." Happily, nearly everything he did was afterward undone.

KITCHEN BOUQUET
Made from fresh vegetables. Gives rich flavor, color and taste to all home cooking.

Onion Soup

1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet; 5 large onions; 1 tablespoon finely minced carrot; 3 tablespoons butter; 5 tablespoons flour; 3½ pints boiling water; salt and pepper to taste; 3 bouillon cubes; ½ cup thin cream. Peel and parboil onions for 3 minutes, drain and chop fine, place in saucepan with carrot and butter and simmer 5 minutes. Add flour, stir and add boiling water, salt and pepper and cook slowly a half hour. Strain, add bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved. Add Kitchen Bouquet and cream. Place several pieces toast in tureen, pour over soup and serve at once.

Mock Terrapin Soup

Boil 1¼ pounds of calf's liver in salt water for half an hour; add small herbs; 6 grains of pepper; one teaspoonful cloves; a few slices of onion, carrot, etc. When the vegetables are done, take them out and mash by putting them through a colander. Make a Spanish sauce by frying bacon; put into the fat a little slice of onion, 6 peppers, two sprigs celery, one-half cup tomato and cook brown. Make a paste of one teaspoonful of salad oil, a yolk of hard boiled egg, dust of cayenne pepper, make into small balls; put these into Spanish sauce, then put the sauce into the soup. When they come to the top, skim them out. Add 1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet. Put in the tureen a slice of lemon, and pour in the soup, then cut the calf's liver into small bits and add it.

Savory Chowder

1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet; 1 qt. diced raw potatoes; ¼ lb. chipped beef; 4 tablespoonfuls butter; 1 cupful corn; 1 medium-sized onion, chopped fine; a small piece of red pepper; 1½ cupfuls hot milk; 2 cupfuls hot water. Put butter, onion, meat and some of the potatoes in the saucepan and fry golden brown, then add hot water and the rest of the potatoes and pepper. Stew slowly till done, about 1 hour. If one uses green corn, score down the rows of kernels and scrape out the inside. Cook this in a little water separately, being careful not to scorch it. When the other mixture is done, add the hot milk, corn, Kitchen Bouquet and salt to taste. Let boil up once and serve hot with crackers.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BILLIE BROWNIE'S WALK

Of course Billie Brownie took many and many a walk. He made many and many a call, too.

He was getting so he really felt very well acquainted with many of Mother Nature's children.

And almost all of them he could not help but like. Not that he didn't want to like any of them!

He always felt sad after he had seen members of the mosquito family or the fly family or others who were mean and horried.

He met Pussy on his walk and Pussy was walking so quietly.

"I have soft-padded feet, that is why," said Pussy. "But I've excellent claws if I want to be angry, or if I am angry.

"A dog can run faster than I can but he hasn't got my claws!"

Pussy seemed to be quite proud of this.

Later on Billie Brownie met Mr. Rabbit.

"I am in quite a hurry, Billie Brownie," Mr. Rabbit said. "And you will pardon me if I do not stop and chat for any length of time.

"I have an engagement with some carrots and I don't want to hurt the carrots' feelings!"

Mr. Rabbit wiggled his little nose and smiled.

"My hind feet are large and strong and so I can run very quickly in this way. I will be there on time. I can hurry up so because my hind feet are larger than my front feet.

"It is the same with the members of the Squirrel family. In the winter I can keep from slipping on the snow too because there are hairs upon the soles of my feet which act as rabbit skid chains."

"What?" asked Billie Brownie.

"Well, not long ago, I was sitting by the porch of a house and everyone said:

"'Do look at that little rabbit. Wouldn't you just say he was listening and taking in everything we are saying?'

"And I had taken it in, too!"

"They had been talking about putting chains on their automobile tires when it rained so the cars wouldn't skid or slide about.

"They called these chains their skid chains, I think.

"And so I call my hairs on my feet

"I Am in Quite a Hurry."

my rabbit skid chains; isn't it a good name?"

Billie Brownie laughed.

Then Mr. Rabbit said a polite good afternoon and bounded along in a great hurry to keep his engagement with the carrots, jumping and leaping most beautifully.

Billie Brownie met Mr. Squirrel next. Mr. Squirrel was about to climb a tree but he showed Billie Brownie how long his ties were and how curved and sharp were his claws so that he was in no danger of falling from the trees.

Next Billie Brownie met Mr. Caribou who made quite a noise as he walked along.

He explained to Billie Brownie that he did this to keep the herd together.

Billie Brownie next met another squirrel coming down a tree, head first and with his hind feet spread out.

"Makes it easier this way," the squirrel told Billie Brownie.

Then he sat upon his haunches and held a nut in his front paws which he was about to eat.

"Have a bite?" he asked Billie Brownie.

"Thank you; no," said Billie, "I just had a big meal before I started out.

"And before I finish my walk I've promised to stop in and have a cup of woodlawn tea with Witty Witch. She makes very delicious woodlawn tea—it has such wonderful flavor."

"I'd rather have a nut any time," blinked the squirrel as he waved his tail in farewell to Billie Brownie.

So Billie Brown walked along, meeting many friends and ending up at Witty Witch's for woodlawn tea.

Safe Season

The teacher was talking about the different seasons. He asked:

"Now, one of you boys tell me which is the proper time to gather fruit."

"When the dog's chained up," replied Tommy.

Youthful Boosters

"My daddy's taller than yours," boasted Billie.

"He isn't!" retorted Jack, indignantly. "My daddy's so tall he has to stand on a chair to put his collar on!"

REALLY NOT HARD POINT OF "ETIKAY"

Matter of Behavior Settled to Sailors' Satisfaction.

The old sea captain and his mates were sticklers for form, a writer in the Youth's Companion remarks. In fact "etikay," as they called it, had become a mania with them. After dinner when the cloth was cleared, writes Sir Henry Robinson in "Memories, Wise and Otherwise," the captain often would send for the mates and the engineer and as we sat round the table propound hard cases on points of etiquette.

He used for his guide and mentor an amazing old tattered book that I sometimes think must have been intended to be comic, because it presupposed such utterly absurd situations. For example, if you were on top of an omnibus and saw a duchess in the street you could not with propriety wave your umbrella at her, no matter how well you knew her. Another thing: when dining with strangers you must not ask the butler for a toothpick at soup. There were many such "hard cases."

The captain used to rule a sheet of paper and put all our names down and award marks in accordance with our replies to the queries put. There was one that made such an impression on me that I made a pencil note of it, and I remember it to this day. We were all sitting round the table; the paper was ruled, and the captain began:

"Now, Mackay, we'll take you first. If you was walking in a field with a young lady with 'oom you was but slightly acquainted, and she was to set down on the grass, what should you do?"

Mackay paused to try and imagine what his feelings and intentions would be in such a case and then replied, "I'd offer to git her a chair."

"Um, ah!" said the skipper. "Not bad, but you might 'ave to walk a couple of miles to get one, and it wouldn't look shipshape for an officer of one of Her Majesty's finest cruisers to be walking about the countryside luggin' a chair after him. However, it's a thoughtful-like thing, and I'll give you five marks. Now, Mr. Trelawney, what do you say?"

"Well," said Trelawney, "I'd argify with her agin it, and if words wouldn't move her I'd take off my coat and give it to her to sit on."

The captain thought deeply. "Well, I don't think that's the answer, but it would be a delicate kind of thing to do, and I'll give you seven. Now, Mr. Lyons, you're next."

"I'd ax the young lady for to get up and run me a race," said the plump little second mate.

"Go on!" said the skipper. "How could you expect a lady with 'oom you were but slightly acquainted to start runnin' races with a potbellied little bloke like you?"

Then after we had all offered our solutions to the hard case the skipper consulted the key at the end of the book and announced what the canons of refined society ordained as the duty of the male escort if a lady of high degree decided suddenly to sit down on the grass.

"'The gentleman,'" read the skipper, "'must remain standing till the lady axes him for to sit down.'"

"Of course, of course," said the mate; "fools we were not to have seen it."

MRS. CARLSON COULD NOT EVEN DRINK COFFEE

Her Stomach Was So Badly Upset.

"The makers of Tanlac will always have my heart-felt thanks for the good health Tanlac has brought me," states Mrs. Enock Carlson, 2109 22nd Ave., So., Minneapolis, Minn.

"Before taking Tanlac I was terribly run-down. My appetite had lost its edge and indigestion gave me a lot of trouble. Even a cup of coffee in the mornings would hurt me and at times gas pains nearly doubled me in two. I had bursting headaches and was in such a bad condition that my husband, as well as myself, was worried about me.

"I am now on my fourth bottle of Tanlac and can eat most anything I want. The headaches are gone, I sleep fine and feel so well that I go about my housework singing, for I feel that Tanlac has given me a new lease on good health."

An Appreciation of Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

THERE'S just one way you can know the vast difference between Red Crown and other gasolines. That is by asking Red Crown to get you out of difficulties. It does it every time.

Here's one man's experience:

"Red Crown had been my engine fuel for many years — long tried, well tested, and entirely satisfactory—

"But, in a foolish moment, YOU KNOW, on the advice of a (so-called high-test) gasoline salesman, I changed my brand, and for several months used other kinds of gasoline with various unsettling results, as: Short mileage, with more frequent filling of my gas tank; hard to start after the lighter elements were used out of my tank; lack of power on a hill, with always in low as I climbed; and, to top my difficulties, one day I ran out of 'gas' on the hill.

"Then I was cured. I had always carried a gallon of Red Crown under the seat, and I put it in the tank and climbed the hill on high gear for the first time in months. Red Crown for me from now on."

Furthermore, Red Crown takes a hint with a haste that will delight you. It has the right attitude toward its job—peppy, active, ready to anticipate your desires, and always dependable.

Forestall trouble. Put Red Crown in your tank now—and laugh at sand, grades and mud!

A Far-Sighted Banker's Idea of Advertising

by FESTUS J. WADE
President, MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY of St. Louis

Do I believe that a banker considers reputation, as developed by advertising, in extending credit? There probably are bankers who will give a negative answer to this question and believe they are giving the right answer.

But let those bankers be approached by a credit-seeking national advertiser, who has established his name, therefore a market for his goods, and see what happens. In nine cases out of ten the fact that those goods have become a household "buy-word" will be the greatest factor in granting the credit.

The banker himself will have become subconsciously sold on the firm, through its consistent advertising. He will say, "Oh, yes, that's a big house—well known, good reputation," etc., not realizing that it was advertising that did the work.

The next minute he may be approached by a new company, trying to make its name, and turn down the loan because too much of it is to be spent for the purpose of advertising. In the first application he has helped the big advertiser to cash in on his reputation, and in the second was depriving the newcomer of the right to build a reputation. This is only a hypothetical case, and I am glad to say I don't believe it happens as often as it did in the past. Just as we learn something new every day, so every day another banker wakes up to the underlying power and pull of advertising.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

by MARY GRAHAM BONNER
WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

BILLIE BROWNIE'S WALK

Of course Billie Brownie took many and many a walk. He made many and many a call, too.

He was getting so he really felt very well acquainted with many of Mother Nature's children.

And almost all of them he could not help but like. Not that he didn't want to like any of them!

He always felt sad after he had seen members of the mosquito family or the fly family or others who were mean and horried.

He met Pussy on his walk and Pussy was walking so quietly.

"I have soft-padded feet, that is why," said Pussy. "But I've excellent claws if I want to be angry, or if I am angry.

"A dog can run faster than I can but he hasn't got my claws!"

Pussy seemed to be quite proud of this.

Later on Billie Brownie met Mr. Rabbit.

"I am in quite a hurry, Billie Brownie," Mr. Rabbit said. "And you will pardon me if I do not stop and chat for any length of time.

"I have an engagement with some carrots and I don't want to hurt the carrots' feelings!"

Mr. Rabbit wiggled his little nose and smiled.

"My hind feet are large and strong and so I can run very quickly in this way. I will be there on time. I can hurry up so because my hind feet are larger than my front feet.

"It is the same with the members of the Squirrel family. In the winter I can keep from slipping on the snow too because there are hairs upon the soles of my feet which act as rabbit skid chains."

"What?" asked Billie Brownie.

"Well, not long ago, I was sitting by the porch of a house and everyone said:

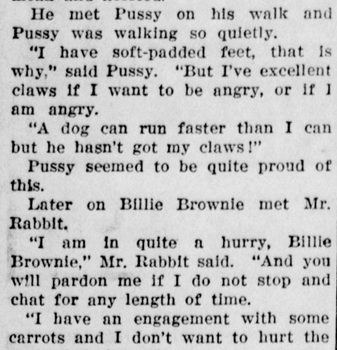

"'Do look at that little rabbit. Wouldn't you just say he was listening and taking in everything we are saying?'

"And I had taken it in, too!"

"They had been talking about putting chains on their automobile tires when it rained so the cars wouldn't skid or slide about.

"They called these chains their skid chains, I think.

"And so I call my hairs on my feet

"I Am in Quite a Hurry."

my rabbit skid chains; isn't it a good name?"

Billie Brownie laughed.

Then Mr. Rabbit said a polite good afternoon and bounded along in a great hurry to keep his engagement with the carrots, jumping and leaping most beautifully.

Billie Brownie met Mr. Squirrel next. Mr. Squirrel was about to climb a tree but he showed Billie Brownie how long his ties were and how curved and sharp were his claws so that he was in no danger of falling from the trees.

Next Billie Brownie met Mr. Caribou who made quite a noise as he walked along.

He explained to Billie Brownie that he did this to keep the herd together.

Billie Brownie next met another squirrel coming down a tree, head first and with his hind feet spread out.

"Makes it easier this way," the squirrel told Billie Brownie.

Then he sat upon his haunches and held a nut in his front paws which he was about to eat.

FLOWER SHOW IS A SUCCESS

Promoters Highly Pleased With Attendance and Interest Shown the First Day

BEING HELD IN WEBB BLOCK

Visitors Include Many Summer Resorters From Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Etc.

The first day of the Crow Wing county flower show, was an even greater success than its promoters had anticipated. Local people showed a great deal of enthusiasm over the event, with the result that there is an excellent exhibit of all flowers grown in this climate at this season of the year.

The show, which is being conducted in the E. O. Webb building on Front street, entertained many visitors on Thursday, and more are expected today, the last day of the exhibit.

Visitors were in attendance from many outside states, including Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, from Kansas City, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and a number from Cass county. These visitors from afar all paid high tribute to the local show, stating that the coloring of the flowers here was much better than theirs at home.

There is a bowl of beautiful cactus-flowered dahlias on exhibit, grown locally, that is receiving much attention. One of the visitors from another state offered the owner $25 for one bulb of this species.

The Dispatch was misinformed in one item which it published concerning the show on Thursday. The tastefully arranged luncheon tables were the work of Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mrs. W. H. Cleary and Mrs. R. A. Beise. These tables show the correct use of flowers for decorations on such occassions. J. E. O'Brien of the Northern Home Furnishing Company, very kindly loaned the dining room furniture and the sun parlor furniture used, which is much appreciated, and which adds greatly to the effective settings of the show.

William C. White, of Deerwood, and Wilbur Hunt of South Bay lake, acted as judges in making the awards in the nine classes which were offered exhibitors at the show. Their findings are as follows:

Class 1. Best arrangement of flowers, any varieties. First prize, Carmilla Herbert, 1 year's subscription to Better Homes and Garden; second prize, Mrs. Mabel Carmichael, 6 Iris; third prize, Mrs. B. I. Rerauf, Dahlia root.

Class 2. Best six vases different varieties, three blooms each variety. First prize, Mrs. L. P. Hall, half-dozen Iris; second prize, Mrs. Neue, three white Phlox.

Class 3. Best three vases, different varieties, three blooms each. First prize, Mrs. Henry Roberts, three hardy perennials; second prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, three colored phlox; third prize, Frank Hagenbart, dahlia root.

Class 4. Best vase of gladioli, three stalks all one variety. First prize, Mrs. Skauge, one year's subscription Garden magazine; second prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, one dozen Gladioli bulbs; third prize, Mrs. J. Gabiou, onehalf dozen gladioli bulbs.

Class 5. Best vase of dahlia, three blooms all one variety. First prize, Mrs. H. F. Michael, $3; second prize, Mrs. W. C. White, $2; third prize, Mrs. G. H. Kampman, $1.

Class 6. Sweet peas, 50 stems one color. First prize, Ruth Hall, three hardy perennials; second prize, Mrs. J. E. Erickson, one-half dozen gladioli; third prize, Mrs. F. M. Kelly, one dahlia root.

Class 7. Most perfect spike of gladioli. First prize, W. E. Paul, one dozen gladioli; second prize, Mrs. Fred Lester, three colored phlox; third prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, one dahlia bulb.

Class 8. Most perfect bloom of dahlia. First prize, Mrs. J. E. Erickson, one dozen Iris, second prize, Miss Eula Michael, three white phlox; third prize, Mrs. Ella Severtson, dahlia root.

Class 9. Most perfect vase of three stocks of any flower. First prize, Mrs. H. Stein, one-half dozen Iris; second prize, Mrs. J. L. Frederick, one-half dozen gladioli; third prize, Mrs. W. C. White, one dahlia root.

On Friday morning a very pretty addition to the exhibits was made by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, who brought in a basket of pitcher plants and cranberries, just secured from the marshes.

The prizes which were given were, to a large extent, made possible through the Minnesota Garden Flower Society, of which the Crow Wing county organization is an auxiliary. In a letter from Mrs. J. H. Todd, president of the parent society, explains the awards as follows:

"I heartily congratulate you on completing your organization and on the prospect for a successful society. I might say that your charter membership is about double that of the Minnesota Garden Flower society 20 years ago.

"It gives me pleasure to state that our society, at its board meeting today, voted to give you three cash prizes for your show, one of $3, one of $2, and one of $1, as first, second and third prize in any class you may wish to use the money.

"Also members of the board have offered the following: two dozen gladioli bulbs, by Mrs. John S. Crooks, Rainbow Gardens, Farmington; one subscription for three years to "Better Homes and Gardens," by Mrs. F. L. Moffett, Minneapolis; six white phlox and six pallida dalmatica iris, Mrs. H. B. Tillotson, Minneapolis, six colored phlox by Mrs. E. W. Gould, Minneapolis, six iris and six hardy perennials, Mrs. N. E. Sawyer, of the Old Fashioned Gardens, Excelsior, one year's subscription to the Garden Magazine, by Mrs. John Howard Todd, Minneapolis."

It is the intention of the Crow Wing county organization to place a beautiful flower exhibit at the Crow Wing County fair, at Pequot next week, in the hope that this will stimulate many throughout the county to raise more flowers next year.

The flowers at the show will be sold at five o'clock this evening.

CAMP LINCOLN BOY VOYAGERS

4 Canoes Carrying 7 Boys and 3 Counsclors Paddle Down Mississippi to Minneapolis

TRIP MADE IN EASY STAGES

Will Camp Along the Way at Little Falls, St. Cloud, Monticello and Anoka

Four canoes, carrying seven boys and three counselors from the Lincoln camp for boys, Hubert, left Brainerd on Thursday afternoon bound for Minneapolis by the Mississippi river route.

This canoe trip down the river was earned by the seven boys in passing the canoe and swimming tests given at Camp Lincoln. Eighteen boys took these tests, but only seven succeeded in passing them.

The final test in which eleven of the boys failed, was very severe, and is designed as a life-saving measure. The boy taking the test is required to paddle his canoe out into deep water in the middle of lake Hubert, and there tip over into the water. Here he must undress while swimming without touching the canoe, then place his clothing on the upturned bottom of the canoe and push it to shore.

The river canoe trip will be made in easy stages, reaching Minneapolis either Monday night or Tuesday morning. The boys will camp along the way at Little Falls, St. Cloud, Monticello and Anoka.

Lincoln Camp will be closed for this season on Tuesday, and the boys will be taken back to the cities in a special coach on Tuesday afternoon's train.

PRECAUTION TAKEN AGAINST SMALLPOX

Taking up the offer of free vaccination offered by the Bellevue township board and the village council about a thousand persons were vaccinated the first three days of the week. Residents of the western part of Buckman township were also vaccinated here.

Langola township and the village of Rice gave vaccinations the first part of the week.

Two Rivers township will vaccinate next week.—Royalton Banner.

"HI-Y" CLUB AT THE "Y" BUILDING

To be Organized and Conducted There by the Secretary, Alfred Dillan

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS 4 GRADES

Nucleus of Club to go to Camp Miller, Duluth Y. M. C. A. Camp, for Conference

One of the major activities of the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. this season will be the organization and conducting of a "Hi-Y" club, according to Alfred Dillan, secretary.

The Hi-Y club is designed for high school boys in the sophomore, junior and senior years, but it is the intention in Brainerd to have it also include the freshman year.

The purpose of the club is to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community the high standards of Christian character.

The club will be started with a small nucleus of boys, who will go to Camp Miller, the Duluth Y. M. C. A. camp, at Sturgeon lake on September 5th, 6th and 7th. Mr. Dillan plans to drive to the camp and take the boys with him.

This will be a Hi-Y training conference for Northern Minnesota, to study the methods of organization and extention of Hi-Y clubs. Trained speakers on the subject will address the conference and lead in the discussions. A similar conference will be conducted at the same time at Camp Icaghowan, the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. camp at Chicago City for Southern Minnesota.

The Hi-Y movement is gaining favor where ever it has been introduced, it is said, and is becoming a strong factor in boys' life. Similar organizations are maintained for younger boys. A "Four-Square" club for boys in the grades, and a "Torch Club" for boys in the Junior high schools, from a stepping stone to the Hi-Y club for the three grades in the high school.

Y. M. C. A. officials are confident that this movement will meet with much success in Brainerd, and ask that the citizens generally give it their hearty support.

CENTER TWP. COMMUNITY PICNIC SEPT. 1

Center township will hold a community picnic on Labor Day, Monday, September 1st, at the home of Tom Russell, on Crystal lake, four miles north of Merrifield.

The committee in charge is planning a fine program. Everyone is invited, and asked to come early and stay late. The Brainerd Boys Band will furnish music during the day.

There will be a program of sports for young and old, and several good speakers have been procured, who will address the assemblage on timely subjects.

NOTICE

Foundry employees, there will be a special meeting at 8 P. M. Saturday evening, Aug. 23rd in the Scandia Co-op hal for the distribution of the locals benefit fund. All members are requested to be present.

WOMAN KILLED IN EIGHT-STORY FALL; HER NURSE IS HELD

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 22—Miss Catherine Ford, 51, Santa Barbara, Calif., fell to her death on the sidewalk from an eight-story room in which she was undergoing treatment for a nervous disorder at a hotel here.

Rose Cavalleri, a nurse at St. Francis hospital, Santa Barbara, who had been attending Miss Ford, said her patient had leaped from the window to her death below.

The nurse was held by police pending an inquest.

Miss Cavalleri said she was taking Miss Ford from Santa Barbara to the home of her brother, Gene Ford, a farmer living near Independence, Iowa.

The fact that the body when found was cold, caused the police to hold Miss Cavalleri.

The police believe that if Miss Ford leaped from the window she must have done so many hours before Miss Cavalleri reported it.

FLOWER SHOW IS A SUCCESS

Promoters Highly Pleased With Attendance and Interest Shown the First Day

BEING HELD IN WEBB BLOCK

Visitors Include Many Summer Resorters From Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Etc.

The first day of the Crow Wing county flower show, was an even greater success than its promoters had anticipated. Local people showed a great deal of enthusiasm over the event, with the result that there is an excellent exhibit of all flowers grown in this climate at this season of the year.

The show, which is being conducted in the E. O. Webb building on Front street, entertained many visitors on Thursday, and more are expected today, the last day of the exhibit.

Visitors were in attendance from many outside states, including Oregon, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, from Kansas City, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and a number from Cass county. These visitors from afar all paid high tribute to the local show, stating that the coloring of the flowers here was much better than theirs at home.

There is a bowl of beautiful cactus-flowered dahlias on exhibit, grown locally, that is receiving much attention. One of the visitors from another state offered the owner $25 for one bulb of this species.

The Dispatch was misinformed in one item which it published concerning the show on Thursday. The tastefully arranged luncheon tables were the work of Mrs. E. O. Webb, Mrs. W. H. Cleary and Mrs. R. A. Beise. These tables show the correct use of flowers for decorations on such occassions. J. E. O'Brien of the Northern Home Furnishing Company, very kindly loaned the dining room furniture and the sun parlor furniture used, which is much appreciated, and which adds greatly to the effective settings of the show.

William C. White, of Deerwood, and Wilbur Hunt of South Bay lake, acted as judges in making the awards in the nine classes which were offered exhibitors at the show. Their findings are as follows:

Class 1. Best arrangement of flowers, any varieties. First prize, Carmilla Herbert, 1 year's subscription to Better Homes and Garden; second prize, Mrs. Mabel Carmichael, 6 Iris; third prize, Mrs. B. I. Rerauf, Dahlia root.

Class 2. Best six vases different varieties, three blooms each variety. First prize, Mrs. L. P. Hall, half-dozen Iris; second prize, Mrs. Neue, three white Phlox.

Class 3. Best three vases, different varieties, three blooms each. First prize, Mrs. Henry Roberts, three hardy perennials; second prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, three colored phlox; third prize, Frank Hagenbart, dahlia root.

Class 4. Best vase of gladioli, three stalks all one variety. First prize, Mrs. Skauge, one year's subscription Garden magazine; second prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, one dozen Gladioli bulbs; third prize, Mrs. J. Gabiou, onehalf dozen gladioli bulbs.

Class 5. Best vase of dahlia, three blooms all one variety. First prize, Mrs. H. F. Michael, $3; second prize, Mrs. W. C. White, $2; third prize, Mrs. G. H. Kampman, $1.

Class 6. Sweet peas, 50 stems one color. First prize, Ruth Hall, three hardy perennials; second prize, Mrs. J. E. Erickson, one-half dozen gladioli; third prize, Mrs. F. M. Kelly, one dahlia root.

Class 7. Most perfect spike of gladioli. First prize, W. E. Paul, one dozen gladioli; second prize, Mrs. Fred Lester, three colored phlox; third prize, Mrs. C. Bruhn, one dahlia bulb.

Class 8. Most perfect bloom of dahlia. First prize, Mrs. J. E. Erickson, one dozen Iris, second prize, Miss Eula Michael, three white phlox; third prize, Mrs. Ella Severtson, dahlia root.

Class 9. Most perfect vase of three stocks of any flower. First prize, Mrs. H. Stein, one-half dozen Iris; second prize, Mrs. J. L. Frederick, one-half dozen gladioli; third prize, Mrs. W. C. White, one dahlia root.

On Friday morning a very pretty addition to the exhibits was made by Mrs. J. A. Thabes, who brought in a basket of pitcher plants and cranberries, just secured from the marshes.

The prizes which were given were, to a large extent, made possible through the Minnesota Garden Flower Society, of which the Crow Wing county organization is an auxiliary. In a letter from Mrs. J. H. Todd, president of the parent society, explains the awards as follows:

"I heartily congratulate you on completing your organization and on the prospect for a successful society. I might say that your charter membership is about double that of the Minnesota Garden Flower society 20 years ago.

"It gives me pleasure to state that our society, at its board meeting today, voted to give you three cash prizes for your show, one of $3, one of $2, and one of $1, as first, second and third prize in any class you may wish to use the money.

"Also members of the board have offered the following: two dozen gladioli bulbs, by Mrs. John S. Crooks, Rainbow Gardens, Farmington; one subscription for three years to "Better Homes and Gardens," by Mrs. F. L. Moffett, Minneapolis; six white phlox and six pallida dalmatica iris, Mrs. H. B. Tillotson, Minneapolis, six colored phlox by Mrs. E. W. Gould, Minneapolis, six iris and six hardy perennials, Mrs. N. E. Sawyer, of the Old Fashioned Gardens, Excelsior, one year's subscription to the Garden Magazine, by Mrs. John Howard Todd, Minneapolis."

It is the intention of the Crow Wing county organization to place a beautiful flower exhibit at the Crow Wing County fair, at Pequot next week, in the hope that this will stimulate many throughout the county to raise more flowers next year.

The flowers at the show will be sold at five o'clock this evening.

CAMP LINCOLN BOY VOYAGERS

4 Canoes Carrying 7 Boys and 3 Counselors Paddle Down Mississippi to Minneapolis

TRIP MADE IN EASY STAGES

Will Camp Along the Way at Little Falls, St. Cloud, Monticello and Anoka

Four canoes, carrying seven boys and three counselors from the Lincoln camp for boys, Hubert, left Brainerd on Thursday afternoon bound for Minneapolis by the Mississippi river route.

This canoe trip down the river was earned by the seven boys in passing the canoe and swimming tests given at Camp Lincoln. Eighteen boys took these tests, but only seven succeeded in passing them.

The final test in which eleven of the boys failed, was very severe, and is designed as a life-saving measure. The boy taking the test is required to paddle his canoe out into deep water in the middle of lake Hubert, and there tip over into the water. Here he must undress while swimming without touching the canoe, then place his clothing on the upturned bottom of the canoe and push it to shore.

The river canoe trip will be made in easy stages, reaching Minneapolis either Monday night or Tuesday morning. The boys will camp along the way at Little Falls, St. Cloud, Monticello and Anoka.

Lincoln Camp will be closed for this season on Tuesday, and the boys will be taken back to the cities in a special coach on Tuesday afternoon's train.

"HI-Y" CLUB AT THE "Y" BUILDING

To be Organized and Conducted There by the Secretary, Alfred Dillan

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS 4 GRADES

Nucleus of Club to go to Camp Miller, Duluth Y. M. C. A. Camp, for Conference

One of the major activities of the Brainerd Y. M. C. A. this season will be the organization and conducting of a "Hi-Y" club, according to Alfred Dillan, secretary.

The Hi-Y club is designed for high school boys in the sophomore, junior and senior years, but it is the intention in Brainerd to have it also include the freshman year.

The purpose of the club is to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community the high standards of Christian character

The club will be started with a small nucleus of boys, who will go to Camp Miller, the Duluth Y. M. C. A. camp, at Sturgeon lake on September 5th, 6th and 7th. Mr. Dillan plans to drive to the camp and take the boys with him.

This will be a Hi-Y training conference for Northern Minnesota, to study the methods of organization and extention of Hi-Y clubs. Trained speakers on the subject will address the conference and lead in the discussions. A similar conference will be conducted at the same time at Camp Icaghowan, the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. camp at Chicago City for Southern Minnesota.

The Hi-Y movement is gaining favor where ever it has been introduced, it is said, and is becoming a strong factor in boys' life. Similar organizations are maintained for younger boys. A "Four-Square" club for boys in the grades, and a "Torch Club" for boys in the Junior high schools, from a stepping stone to the Hi-Y club for the three grades in the high school.

Y. M. C. A. officials are confident that this movement will meet with much success in Brainerd, and ask that the citizens generally give it their hearty support.

CENTER TWP. COMMUNITY PICNIC SEPT. 1

The committee in charge is planning a fine program. Everyone is invited, and asked to come early and stay late. The Brainerd Boys Band will furnish music during the day.

There will be a program of sports for young and old, and several good speakers have been procured, who will address the assemblage on timely subjects.

DEFECTS IN OLYMPIC SYSTEM

By Henry L. Farrell
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 22.—Although there was no feeling among the Americans at any time during the Olympic games that the demonstrations of poor sportsmanship on the part of the French should cause the Olympic idea of athletics to be abandoned, there was a pronounced opinion that several defects in the present system should be improved.

Accepting it as a fact that sportsmanship cannot be legislated into any nation it was, nevertheless, agreed that the occasions for demonstrations of poor sportsmanship could be reduced by more care in the appointment of officials and by stricter control and supervision of the officials.

The only real complaint the American athletes had during the track and field games at Colombes resulted from poor judgment on the part of several officials. The American coaches were aroused to indignation by some flagrant inefficiency on the part of a few officials, but they didn't go far enough to protest, knowing, perhaps, that it would avail little and probably do damage.

The United States was deprived of a victory in the cross-country run by the act of an official of the gate who was guilty of losing his head if he did not deliberately intend to help the Finn team. This official was standing at the gate to direct the runners as they came into the stadium for the last lap of the race. The Finns and the Americans were depending on their fourth men, who were running almost together. The Finn entered first, and although the course had been explained and marked carefully, he started to run around the track in the wrong direction. The official ran after him, pulled him back and started him around in the right direction. He finished and gave Finland the victory. The official had no right to handle that runner or any other runner and, although it was a foul, there was no protest made.

Another peculiar incident happened at the gate in the same race, and it was evidence of the careless manner in which officials were selected. One man was put on post at the gate with a large flag to direct the runners around the course. He was waving the flag with such ambition that he cracked an Italian runner over the head with the flag-stick and knocked him down. The Italians were ready to take up arms as they had complained during the fencing matches that they were getting a very raw deal.

The starting of the sprint races was the worst that has ever been seen. A county fair starter could have done better than the Englishman who held the gun in the 100 and 200-metre races and the 400-metre relay race.

It was never even suggested that he had any desire to worry the Americans, but he was horribly inefficient. He was more nervous than any of the runners, and one of the American boys said, after the first day, he hoped he wouldn't be shot in the back.

AMERICAN POLO TEAM PICKED; SEVEN NAMED

BATTLING SIKI QUITS IN 8TH ROUND

Lorain, O., Aug. 22. — Battling Siki, former light heavyweight champion, quit at the end of the 8th round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Mike Conroy of Rochester last night. At the beginning of the 9th round the Senegalese announced: "I am getting nothing for this. I quit." Then he walked over to Conroy's corner, kissed his opponent on both cheeks and left the ring. Conroy had much the better of the fight.

SCHLAIFER K. O.'S WARNIE SMITH

Omaha, Aug. 22.—Morrie Schlaifer, Omaha welterweight, knocked out Warnie Smith, Oklahoma, in the 7th round. Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, was disqualified for stalling in the 7th round of his scheduled 10-round go with Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska lightweight champion.

Stillwater Wins

New Richmond, Wis., Aug. 22.—The Stillwater team traveled an extra inning to defeat the Rice Lake team here yesterday afternoon 7 to 2. The score was 2-2 in the ninth inning when the Stillwater team took advantage of the lake team's errors and scored five runs in the 10th inning. The game was played as an added attraction for the county fair.

Women Denounced Coffee

In "the women's petition against coffee," 1674, they complained that "it made men as unfruitful as the deserts whence that unhappy berry is said to be brought!" English Stars Will Coach Yankee Teams

Tempting offers which some of the stars of the association football game of England are receiving from America to come to the United States and act as coaches are causing concern among England's soccer fans.

One of the big surprises, however, is that a player named Hill, for whom a large fee was paid by his club, Burnley, last year, has not yet signified his intention of staying with the club for next season. The reason for this is stated to be that he is considering an offer to take up coaching in the United States.

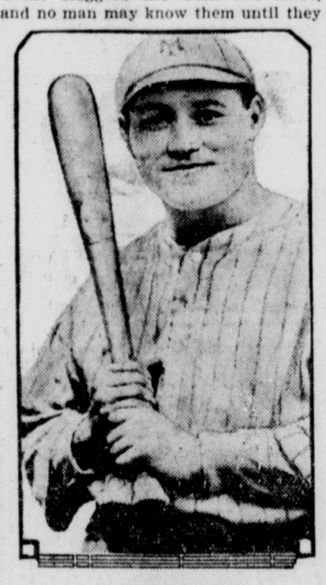

LOUIS WILSON HAS MADE FINE START

Virginia Rookie Slugs Way to Fame With Giants.

Louis Wilson, the Portsmouth (Va.) busher of last year, wears an ordinary baseball shoe equipped with the regulation spike, nevertheless the marks he leaves around home plates and bases of the big league these days are the tracks of a real big league wolf. Wilson has made the wildest dreams a kid ever had come true. No pirate-hero-king ever had anything on this burly ball player.

Called from Virginia last fall by McGraw, he is now batting well over .300, and his cannon-shot drives have made him a favorite with all the fans. He is a fast runner and is playing the outfield in sensational fashion.

Short, squat, fast, burly Wilson, the Class B busher, has mowed a mighty swath. He is a Chester (Pa.) boy, just twenty-four years old. He was sold to McGraw for $5,000. Fancy! And McGraw paid $75,000 for O'Connell. Great sluggers are born not made, and no man may know them until they smash their way into notice. Hornsby came direct from Class B to the .300 batting class in the majors. This Wilson boy seems to be the prize wolf of the pack since Hornsby came from the bush. He has a long way to go up the Hornsby trail to the heights, but he has made a grand start.

Each Must Pay $8

George Washington university, of Washington, D. C., will require every student entering the institution who registers for six hours or more work per week, beginning on September, to pay $8 per year for the support of various athletic teams. This will insure a permanent financial income of about $30,000 a year and will put the Hatchetites on a sound working basis.

Gillmore Wins Sculls

W. E. Garrett Gillmore of Philadelphia, who won the Olympic single sculls title by defeating Beresford, the British diamond sculls champion. Gillmore's time was 7:3 1-5, while Beresford was just a second behind the American.

DEFECTS IN OLYMPIC SYSTEM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Aug. 22.—Although there was no feeling among the Americans at any time during the Olympic games that the demonstrations of poor sportsmanship on the part of the French should cause the Olympic idea of athletics to be abandoned, there was a pronounced opinion that several defects in the present system should be improved.

Accepting it as a fact that sportsmanship cannot be legislated into any nation it was, nevertheless, agreed that the occasions for demonstrations of poor sportsmanship could be reduced by more care in the appointment of officials and by stricter control and supervision of the officials.

The only real complaint the American athletes had during the track and field games at Colombes resulted from poor judgment on the part of several officials. The American coaches were aroused to indignation by some flagrant inefficiency on the part of a few officials, but they didn't go far enough to protest, knowing, perhaps, that it would avail little and probably do damage.

The United States was deprived of a victory in the cross-country run by the act of an official of the gate who was guilty of losing his head if he did not deliberately intend to help the Finn team. This official was standing at the gate to direct the runners as they came into the stadium for the last lap of the race. The Finns and the Americans were depending on their fourth men, who were running almost together. The Finn entered first, and although the course had been explained and marked carefully, he started to run around the track in the wrong direction. The official ran after him, pulled him back and started him around in the right direction. He finished and gave Finland the victory. The official had no right to handle that runner or any other runner and, although it was a foul, there was no protest made.

Another peculiar incident happened at the gate in the same race, and it was evidence of the careless manner in which officials were selected. One man was put on post at the gate with a large flag to direct the runners around the course. He was waving the flag with such ambition that he cracked an Italian runner over the head with the flag-stick and knocked him down. The Italians were ready to take up arms as they had complained during the fencing matches that they were getting a very raw deal.

The starting of the sprint races was the worst that has ever been seen. A county fair starter could have done better than the Englishman who held the gun in the 100 and 200-metre races and the 400-metre relay race.

It was never even suggested that he had any desire to worry the Americans, but he was horribly inefficient. He was more nervous than any of the runners, and one of the American boys said, after the first day, he hoped he wouldn't be shot in the back.

AMERICAN POLO TEAM PICKED; SEVEN NAMED

New York, Aug. 22.—Defense of the international polo cup against the British challengers will rest upon the shoulders of Devereaux Milburn, Tommy Hitchcock, Watson Webb and Malcolm Stevenson. Following expectations they were appointed as regulars by the selection committee of the United States Polo association. Eric Pedley, Earl W. Hopping and Robert E. Strawbridge, Jr., were named as substitutes.

BATTLING SIKI QUITS IN 8TH ROUND

Lorain, O., Aug. 22. — Battling Siki, former light heavyweight champion, quit at the end of the 8th round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Mike Conroy of Rochester last night. At the beginning of the 9th round the Senegalese announced: "I am getting nothing for this. I quit." Then he walked over to Conroy's corner, kissed his opponent on both cheeks and left the ring. Conroy had much the better of the fight.

SCHLAIFER K. O.'S WARNIE SMITH

Omaha, Aug. 22.—Morrie Schlaifer, Omaha welterweight, knocked out Warnie Smith, Oklahoma, in the 7th round. Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight, was disqualified for stalling in the 7th round of his scheduled 10-round go with Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska lightweight champion.

Stillwater Wins

New Richmond, Wis., Aug. 22.—The Stillwater team traveled an extra inning to defeat the Rice Lake team here yesterday afternoon 7 to 2. The score was 2-2 in the ninth inning when the Stillwater team took advantage of the lake team's errors and scored five runs in the 10th inning. The game was played as an added attraction for the county fair.

MPLS. RED SOX 10 BRAINERD ELKS 1

The Minneapolis Red Sox colored team defeated the Brainerd Elks yesterday evening, 10 to 1, in a seven inning game. The Elks had to work hard to save themselves from a shutout, the lone score bobbing in with the assistance of errors.

Women Denounced Coffee

In "the women's petition against coffee," 1674, they complained that "it made men as unfruitful as the deserts whence that unhappy berry is said to be brought!" That the "offspring of their mighty ancestors would dwindle into a succession of apes and pigmies" and that on a domestic message a husband would "stop by the way to drink a couple of cups of coffee."
